Dear <<first_name>> <<middle_name>> <<last_name>> <<suffix>>,

The Cambria Hotel Nashville Downtown understands the importance of protecting guest information. We are writing to let you know that we recently identified and addressed an incident that involved your payment card information. This notice explains what occurred, measures we have taken, and additional steps you may consider taking.

What Happened?

The Cambria Hotel Nashville Downtown uses a payment system that is EMV enabled and uses encryption for in-person payment transactions. There are some scenarios where payment card information is entered by typing and not by inserting it into the card reader. We learned on May 28, 2020 that malware that logs keystrokes had been installed on one of the three computers at our front desk. That keylogger would record what was typed into that computer and then send that information out of the network. We believe the keylogger was installed on this computer in 2019 before we purchased this property.

What Information Was Involved?

The information obtained by the keylogger may include name, address, payment card number, expiration date, and your email address.

What We Are Doing.

We want to assure you that we take this incident seriously. In addition to the secure payment technology we had already implemented at the property, we are taking steps to implement additional measures to strengthen our training and processes. In addition, we notified law enforcement and continue to support their investigation.

What You Can Do.

We encourage you to closely review your payment card account statements for any unauthorized charges. You should immediately report any unauthorized charges to the bank that issued your card because payment card network rules generally provide that cardholders are not responsible for unauthorized charges that are timely reported. Please see the Additional Information section in this letter for other steps you may consider.

We regret that this occurred and apologize for any inconvenience. If you have any further questions, please call 1-???-???-????, Monday through Friday, between 8:00 a.m. and 5:30 p.m. Central Time.

Sincerely,

The Cambria Hotel Nashville Downtown Team

Fraud Alerts and Credit or Security Freezes

Fraud Alerts: There are two types of general fraud alerts you can place on your credit report to put your creditors on notice that you may be a victim of fraud—an initial alert and an extended alert. You may ask that an initial fraud alert be placed on your credit report if you suspect you have been, or are about to be, a victim of identity theft. An initial fraud alert stays on your credit report for one year. You may have an extended alert placed on your credit report if you have already been a victim of identity theft with the appropriate documentary proof. An extended fraud alert stays on your credit report for seven years.

To place a fraud alert on your credit reports, contact one of the nationwide credit bureaus. A fraud alert is free. The credit bureau you contact must tell the other two, and all three will place an alert on their versions of your report.

For those in the military who want to protect their credit while deployed, an Active Duty Military Fraud Alert lasts for one year and can be renewed for the length of your deployment. The credit bureaus will also take you off their marketing lists for pre-screened credit card offers for two years, unless you ask them not to.

Credit or Security Freezes: You have the right to put a credit freeze, also known as a security freeze, on your credit file, free of charge, which makes it more difficult for identity thieves to open new accounts in your name. That's because most creditors need to see your credit report before they approve a new account. If they can't see your report, they may not extend the credit.

How do I place a freeze on my credit reports? There is no fee to place or lift a security freeze. Unlike a fraud alert, you must separately place a security freeze on your credit file at each credit reporting company. For information and instructions to place a security freeze, contact each of the credit reporting agencies at the addresses below:

- Experian Security Freeze, PO Box 9554, Allen, TX 75013, www.experian.com
- TransUnion Security Freeze, PO Box 2000, Chester, PA 19016, www.transunion.com
- Equifax Security Freeze, PO Box 105788, Atlanta, GA 30348, www.equifax.com

You'll need to supply your name, address, date of birth, Social Security number and other personal information.

After receiving your freeze request, each credit bureau will provide you with a unique PIN (personal identification number) or password. Keep the PIN or password in a safe place. You will need it if you choose to lift the freeze.

How do I lift a freeze? A freeze remains in place until you ask the credit bureau to temporarily lift it or remove it altogether. If the request is made online or by phone, a credit bureau must lift a freeze within one hour. If the request is made by mail, then the bureau must lift the freeze no later than three business days after getting your request.

If you opt for a temporary lift because you are applying for credit or a job, and you can find out which credit bureau the business will contact for your file, you can save some time by lifting the freeze only at that particular credit bureau. Otherwise, you need to make the request with all three credit bureaus.
