Dear <<first_name>> <<middle_name>> <<last_name>> <<suffix>>,

At T Retail LLC, we deeply value our relationship with our customers and understand how crucial it is to safeguard payment card information. We are writing to inform you about a recent data security incident that involved some of your information. Our intention is to provide you with a clear explanation of the incident, the actions taken, and additional steps you may consider taking in response.

Recently, we concluded an investigation into an incident involving our retail website, which sells branded merchandise. After receiving a report on June 12, 2023 that a payment card security incident may have occurred, we immediately secured the systems involved and began an investigation. The investigation found the installation of unauthorized code on the website between April 29, 2023 and May 17, 2023, which was capable of finding and sending payment card information used to make orders to an unauthorized external party. On July 11, 2023, we determined that your name and credit card number ending in <<b2b_text_1(Credit Card number)>> may have been acquired by the unauthorized party.

We want to provide you with some guidance on how to protect yourself further. It's always advisable to remain vigilant and review your payment card statements for any suspicious activity. In the event of unauthorized charges, we recommend contacting the bank that issued your card promptly. Most payment card rules stipulate that cardholders are not liable for unauthorized charges when reported promptly. You can find the bank's contact number on the back of your payment card. For your convenience, please see the section that follows this letter for additional steps you may take.

We regret any inconvenience caused by this incident. We have implemented measures to prevent these types of occurrences in the future.

If you have any questions about this incident, please call TFN, Monday-Friday, between 8:00 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. Central Time, excluding major U.S. holidays.

ADDITIONAL STEPS YOU CAN TAKE

You can obtain information from these sources about steps an individual can take to avoid identity theft as well as information about fraud alerts and security freezes. You should also contact your local law enforcement authorities and file a police report. Obtain a copy of the police report in case you are asked to provide copies to creditors to correct your records. Contact information for the Federal Trade Commission is as follows:

Fraud Alerts and Credit or Security Freezes:

Fraud Alerts: There are two types of general fraud alerts you can place on your credit report to put your creditors on notice that you may be a victim of fraud—an initial alert and an extended alert. You may ask that an initial fraud alert be placed on your credit report if you suspect you have been, or are about to be, a victim of identity theft. An initial fraud alert stays on your credit report for one year. You may have an extended alert placed on your credit report if you have already been a victim of identity theft with the appropriate documentary proof. An extended fraud alert stays on your credit report for seven years.

To place a fraud alert on your credit reports, contact one of the nationwide credit bureaus. A fraud alert is free. The credit bureau you contact must tell the other two, and all three will place an alert on their versions of your report.

For those in the military who want to protect their credit while deployed, an Active Duty Military Fraud Alert lasts for one year and can be renewed for the length of your deployment. The credit bureaus will also take you off their marketing lists for pre-screened credit card offers for two years, unless you ask them not to.

Credit or Security Freezes: You have the right to put a credit freeze, also known as a security freeze, on your credit file, free of charge, which makes it more difficult for identity thieves to open new accounts in your name. That's because most creditors need to see your credit report before they approve a new account. If they can't see your report, they may not extend the credit.

How do I place a freeze on my credit reports? There is no fee to place or lift a security freeze. Unlike a fraud alert, you must separately place a security freeze on your credit file at each credit reporting company. For information and instructions to place a security freeze, contact each of the credit reporting agencies at the addresses below:

- Experian Security Freeze, PO Box 9554, Allen, TX 75013, www.experian.com
- TransUnion Security Freeze, PO Box 160, Woodlyn, PA 19094, www.transunion.com
- Equifax Security Freeze, PO Box 105788, Atlanta, GA 30348, www.equifax.com

You'll need to supply your name, address, date of birth, Social Security number and other personal information.

After receiving your freeze request, each credit bureau will provide you with a unique PIN (personal identification number) or password. Keep the PIN or password in a safe place. You will need it if you choose to lift the freeze.

How do I lift a freeze? A freeze remains in place until you ask the credit bureau to temporarily lift it or remove it altogether. If the request is made online or by phone, a credit bureau must lift a freeze within one hour. If the request is made by mail, then the bureau must lift the freeze no later than three business days after getting your request.

If you opt for a temporary lift because you are applying for credit or a job, and you can find out which credit bureau the business will contact for your file, you can save some time by lifting the freeze only at that particular credit bureau. Otherwise, you need to make the request with all three credit bureaus.
