Dear Sample A. Sample:

Brownell Travel, Inc. (“Brownell”) writes to inform you of an event that may have affected the security of certain information related to you. While we have no indications of identity theft or fraud as a result of this event, this notice provides information about the event, our response, and resources available to you to help protect your information, should you feel it appropriate to do so.

What Happened? Late last year, Brownell identified suspicious activity on certain computer systems. We immediately launched an extensive investigation to determine the nature and scope of the event and worked quickly to: (1) secure our systems; (2) restore access to our systems to continue to operate without disruption; and (3) work with cybersecurity specialists to investigate whether this resulted in any impact to information housed on our systems. We also promptly reported this event to federal law enforcement. Through our investigation, we determined that an unknown actor gained access to certain systems and was able to view or download certain data between November 10, 2023 and November 26, 2023.

In an abundance of caution, we then conducted a comprehensive and time-intensive third-party review of the information stored on the impacted systems to determine what information was potentially affected and to whom the information related. After which, we undertook a manual review of our records to determine the identities and contact information for potentially affected individuals to issue notifications. We recently completed our review.

What Information Was Involved? Our investigation determined that at the time of the event, your name and [Extra1] were stored within the impacted systems and may have been affected by this event.

What We Are Doing. The confidentiality, privacy, and security of information in our care are among our highest priorities, and we take this event very seriously. Upon becoming aware of the activity, we immediately took steps to secure our systems and initiated a comprehensive incident response. We also reviewed our security policies and procedures and are enhancing our security measures to reduce the risk of similar future events.

As an added precaution, we are offering you access to credit monitoring and identity restoration services for 24 months at no cost to you, through Experian. Enrollment instructions are enclosed with this letter.

What You Can Do. We encourage you to remain vigilant against incidents of identity theft and fraud by reviewing your account and free credit reports for suspicious activity and to detect errors. Additional information and resources are included in the enclosed Steps You Can Take to Help Protect Personal Information. You may also enroll in the complementary credit-monitoring services available to you.

For More Information. If you have additional questions, please contact our toll-free assistance line at 1-833-918-4504. This toll-free line is available Monday through Friday from 09:00 am ET to 09:00 pm ET (excluding U.S. holidays). Please be prepared to reference engagement number B128206 when speaking with an agent. You may also write to Brownell at 216 Summit Blvd., Birmingham, AL 35243.

Monitor Your Accounts

Under U.S. law, a consumer is entitled to one free credit report annually from each of the three major credit reporting bureaus, Equifax, Experian, and TransUnion. To order a free credit report, visit www.annualcreditreport.com or call, toll-free, 1-877-322-8228. Consumers may also directly contact the three major credit reporting bureaus listed below to request a free copy of their credit report.

Consumers have the right to place an initial or extended “fraud alert” on a credit file at no cost. An initial fraud alert is a one-year alert that is placed on a consumer’s credit file. Upon seeing a fraud alert display on a consumer’s credit file, a business is required to take steps to verify the consumer’s identity before extending new credit. If consumers are the victim of identity theft, they are entitled to an extended fraud alert, which is a fraud alert lasting seven years. Should consumers wish to place a fraud alert, please contact any of the three major credit reporting bureaus listed below.

As an alternative to a fraud alert, consumers have the right to place a “credit freeze” on a credit report, which will prohibit a credit bureau from releasing information in the credit report without the consumer’s express authorization. The credit freeze is designed to prevent credit, loans, and services from being approved in a consumer’s name without consent. Consumers should be aware, however, that using a credit freeze to take control over who gets access to the personal and financial information in their credit report may delay, interfere with, or prohibit the timely approval of any subsequent request or application they make regarding a new loan, credit, mortgage, or any other account involving the extension of credit. Pursuant to federal law, consumers cannot be charged to place or lift a credit freeze on their credit report. To request a credit freeze, individuals may need to provide some or all of the following information:

1. Full name (including middle initial as well as Jr., Sr., II, III, etc.);
2. Social Security number;
3. Date of birth;
4. Addresses for the prior two to five years;
5. Proof of current address, such as a current utility bill or telephone bill;
6. A legible photocopy of a government-issued identification card (state driver’s license or ID card, etc.); and
7. A copy of either the police report, investigative report, or complaint to a law enforcement agency concerning identity theft if they are a victim of identity theft.

Should consumers wish to place a credit freeze or fraud alert, please contact the three major credit reporting bureaus listed below:
