Dear Sample A. Sample:

MedInform, Inc. (“MedInform”) writes to inform you of a recent event that may affect the confidentiality of information related to you as a Cleveland Clinic patient. MedInform provides services to Cleveland Clinic, and your information was in our systems as a result. This letter provides information about MedInform’s event, our response, and resources available to you to help protect your information, should you determine it is appropriate.

What Happened? On December 21, 2022, MedInform identified suspicious activity on our network. We immediately launched an investigation to secure our systems and determine the nature and scope of the activity. We also promptly reported the event to federal law enforcement. The investigation determined that an unknown actor accessed certain computer systems between December 5, 2022 and December 21, 2022, and certain information was viewed or downloaded. We then undertook a review of our internal records to determine what information was present on the systems and identify contact information to provide notifications. MedInform recently completed this review.

What Information Was Involved? The types of information that may have been subject to unauthorized access include name, address, Social Security number, medical billing information, and financial account information.

What We Are Doing. We take this event and the security of personal information in our care seriously. Upon learning of this event, we moved quickly to investigate and respond, assess the security of our network, and notify our hospital system clients, as well as any potentially affected individuals. As part of our ongoing commitment to information security, we reviewed existing policies and procedures, enhanced specific administrative and technical controls, and provided additional security training to reduce the likelihood of a similar future event. We also reported the event to appropriate governmental agencies, including federal law enforcement and the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services. As an added precaution, we offer complimentary credit monitoring and identity restoration services for 24 months through Experian.

What You Can Do. We encourage you to remain vigilant against identity theft and fraud by reviewing your account statements, monitoring your free credit reports for suspicious activity, and to detect and report errors. We also encourage you to review the information contained in the enclosed Steps You Can Take to Protect Personal Information. In addition, you may enroll in the complimentary credit monitoring services available to you. Enrollment instructions are enclosed with this letter.

For More Information. If you have additional questions, you may call our designated assistance line at (833) 671-0404 toll-free Monday through Friday from 9 a.m. – 11 p.m. Eastern or Saturday and Sunday from 11 a.m. – 8 p.m. Eastern (excluding U.S. holidays). Be prepared to provide your engagement number B090911. You may also write to MedInform at 6060 Rockside Woods Boulevard North, Suite 230, Independence, Ohio 44131.

Sincerely,

Michael T. Williams
President

Monitor Your Accounts

Under U.S. law, a consumer is entitled to one free credit report annually from each of the three major credit reporting bureaus, Equifax, Experian, and TransUnion. To order your free credit report, visit www.annualcreditreport.com or call, toll-free, 1-877-322-8228. You may also directly contact the three major credit reporting bureaus listed below to request a free copy of your credit report.

Consumers have the right to place an initial or extended “fraud alert” on a credit file at no cost. An initial fraud alert is a one-year alert that is placed on a consumer’s credit file. Upon seeing a fraud alert display on a consumer’s credit file, a business is required to take steps to verify the consumer’s identity before extending new credit. If you are a victim of identity theft, you are entitled to an extended fraud alert, which is a fraud alert lasting seven years. Should you wish to place a fraud alert, please contact any one of the three major credit reporting bureaus listed below.

As an alternative to a fraud alert, consumers have the right to place a “credit freeze” on a credit report, which will prohibit a credit bureau from releasing information in the credit report without the consumer’s express authorization. The credit freeze is designed to prevent credit, loans, and services from being approved in your name without your consent. However, you should be aware that using a credit freeze to take control over who gets access to the personal and financial information in your credit report may delay, interfere with, or prohibit the timely approval of any subsequent request or application you make regarding a new loan, credit, mortgage, or any other account involving the extension of credit. Pursuant to federal law, you cannot be charged to place or lift a credit freeze on your credit report. To request a security freeze, you will need to provide the following information:

1. Full name (including middle initial as well as Jr., Sr., II, III, etc.);
2. Social Security number;
3. Date of birth;
4. Addresses for the prior two to five years;
5. Proof of current address, such as a current utility bill or telephone bill;
6. A legible photocopy of a government-issued identification card (state driver’s license or ID card, etc.); and
7. A copy of either the police report, investigative report, or complaint to a law enforcement agency concerning identity theft if you are a victim of identity theft.

Should you wish to place a credit freeze, please contact the three major credit reporting bureaus listed below:

For Rhode Island residents, the Rhode Island Attorney General may be reached at: 150 South Main Street, Providence, RI 02903; www.riag.ri.gov; and 1-401-274-4400. Under Rhode Island law, you have the right to obtain any police report filed in regard to this event. There is 1 Rhode Island resident impacted by this event.

EXHIBIT B

Wednesday, May 24, 2023 – MedInform, Inc. (“MedInform”) is issuing notice of a recent data security event that affected the confidentiality of information related to a limited number of Cleveland Clinic patients. MedInform provides services to certain hospital systems, including Cleveland Clinic. We are providing information about MedInform’s event, our response, and steps potentially affected individuals may take to better protect against the possibility of identity theft and fraud, should they feel it is appropriate to do so.

What Happened? On December 21, 2022, MedInform identified suspicious activity on our network. We immediately launched an investigation, to secure our systems and determine the nature and scope of the activity. We also promptly reported the event to federal law enforcement.
