RE: Unprotected Data

Dear :

Impact Partnership, LLC (“Impact”) works directly with insurance advisors and insurance companies to provide and transmit, among other things, insurance applications and transmittals in order to aid in the selection of insurance and annuity products.

On June 24, 2019, Impact was notified by one of its subcontractors, a company called OneHQ, that during a routine backup of Impact data, the data was inadvertently not blocked from all public access. Specifically, OneHQ’s files which were stored on Amazon Web Services, Inc.’s (“Amazon”) cloud-based file storage system, were unprotected and could potentially be accessed from the internet from approximately June 1, 2019 to June 19, 2019. We have no information indicating that any unauthorized individuals did in fact access or acquire these files, but we are providing this notice to you because your information was contained in one of the files. The files included insurance or annuity applications and/or contracting files.

The information contained in the insurance or annuity applications and/or contracting files included information such as names, dates of birth, and in some instances, social security numbers, driver’s license numbers and other ID numbers or financial account information. There were no passwords in this information. We have investigated this matter with OneHQ as well as its service provider, Amazon, and, again, while we have no reason to believe the information was actually accessed by unauthorized individuals, we are providing this notice to you simply out of an abundance of caution, because we cannot be certain.

As soon as it learned about the unprotected files, OneHQ immediately enabled file protection measures and rendered the files inaccessible. OneHQ also contacted Impact and verified that the files had been protected and could no longer be accessed. Finally, OneHQ had a computer security contractor verify that the files could not be viewed or accessed on the internet.

Impact is offering FREE CREDIT MONITORING for 12 months from Experian for you. To help protect your identity, we are offering a complimentary one-year membership of Experian’s® IdentityWorksSM. If you have questions about this issue or need more information, you may contact Derrick Vermillion at Impact Partnership at 1-866-522-6813 or email at dvermillion@impactpartner.com in order to learn more information. For now, please be vigilant in watching for unauthorized credit or account activity.

You can also obtain information from the Federal Trade Commission and the three large credit reporting agencies about fraud alerts and security freezes which can be placed on your credit account. These steps can help detect and prevent identity theft. The toll-free numbers, addresses, and helpful websites for the FTC and the three credit reporting agencies are included below.

Finally, please review the state-specific attachment for other information from your state which can also be helpful in preventing or detecting identity theft or unauthorized credit activity.

Impact takes data protection seriously and regrets that this situation occurred. Please feel free to contact us if you have any questions.

Sincerely,
Impact Partnership

U.S. State Notification Requirements

Measures All U.S. Residents Can Take to Prevent or Avoid Identity Theft

Obtain a Free Credit Report: We remind you that you are entitled to obtain a copy of your credit report, free of charge, once every twelve months from each of the national credit reporting agencies. You may order your free annual credit report online, by phone or by mail. To order your annual free credit report online visit www.annualcreditreport.com. To order your annual free credit report by phone call 877-322-8228. To order your annual free credit report by mail you may complete an Annual Credit Report Request Form (available on the Federal Trade Commission's website www.consumer.ftc.gov) and mail the form to Annual Credit Report Request Service P.O. Box 105281 Atlanta, GA 30348-5281.

Place a Fraud Alert: A fraud alert can make it harder for an identity thief to open more accounts in your name. You can place a fraud alert for free by asking one of the three nationwide credit bureaus. It has to put the alert on your credit report and tell the other two credit bureaus to do so. A fraud alert tells creditors to follow certain procedures, including contacting you, before the open new accounts or change your existing accounts. For that reason, placing a fraud alert can protect you, but also may delay you when you seek to obtain credit. The alert lasts one year. More information about Fraud Alerts can be found on the FTC's website www.consumer.ftc.gov.

Place a Security Freeze: Also known as a credit freeze, a security freeze restricts access to your credit report, which in turn makes it more difficult for anyone to open accounts in your name. A freeze lasts until you ask the reporting agency to lift it, either temporarily or remove it altogether. A request for a security freeze must be made with each credit reporting agency individually. More information about Security Freezes can be found on the FTC's website www.consumer.ftc.gov.

Report Identity Theft: If you have been or if you believe you have been the victim of identity theft you should report it to the FTC, local law enforcement and your state's Attorney General or other consumer protection office. You may file a report with the FTC and obtain additional information by visiting www.identitytheft.gov.

For residents of Arizona, California, Colorado, Connecticut, Hawaii, Illinois, Iowa, Maryland, Michigan, Missouri, North Carolina, Oregon, Virginia, Washington and Wyoming: It is required by state laws to inform you of the contact information for the following national consumer reporting agencies where you may obtain additional information about avoiding, preventing and protecting against identity theft and fraud alerts and credit freezes. Further, it is recommended that you remain vigilant for incidents of fraud and identity theft by reviewing credit card and other accounts statements and monitoring your credit report for unauthorized activity. You may obtain a free copy of your credit report by contacting any one or more of the following national consumer reporting agencies.

For the residents of Iowa and Oregon: It is required by state law to advise you to report any suspected incidents of identity theft to local law enforcement, the Attorney General of your state, and the Federal Trade Commission.

For the residents of Maryland: It is required by state law to inform you and advise you that you may contact the Maryland Office of the Attorney General, Consumer Protection Division to obtain additional information about steps you can take to avoid identity theft or if you have been or believe you have been the victim of identity theft. Attorney General Consumer Protection Division, 200 St. Paul Place, Baltimore, MD 21202, 888-743-0023, consumer@oag.state.md.us.

For the residents of North Carolina: It is required by state law to inform you and advise you that you may contact the North Carolina Office of the Attorney General Consumer Protection Division to obtain information about preventing identity theft or if you have been or believe you have been the victim of identity theft. Attorney General Consumer Protection Division, Attorney General's Office Mail Service Center 9001, Raleigh, NC 27699-9001, 877-5-NO-SCAM (877-566-7226), www.ncdoj.gov/Consumer.

For the residents of Massachusetts: It is required by state law that you are informed of your right to obtain a police report if you are a victim of identity theft. You also have the right to place a security freeze on your credit report. A security freeze is intended to prevent credit, loans and services from being approved in your name without your consent; however, using a security freeze may delay your ability to obtain credit.

To place a security freeze on your credit report, you need to send a request to a consumer reporting agency listed below by certified mail, overnight mail, or regular stamped mail. The following information must be included when requesting a security freeze: (1) full name, with middle initial and any suffixes; (2) Social Security number; (3) date of birth; (4) current address and any previous addresses for the past five years; and (5) any applicable incident report or complaint with a law enforcement agency; (6) a copy of a government-issued identification card and (7) a copy of a recent utility bill or bank or insurance statement. It is essential that each copy be legible, display your name and current mailing address, and the date of issue. Under Massachusetts law, there should be no charge for a security freeze.
