Subject: Notice of Data Security Incident

Dear << MemberFirstName>> << MemberLastName>>,

We are writing to inform you of a data security incident that may have involved your personal information. At Doyle & Associates, P.C. ("Doyle") we take the privacy and security of your information very seriously and we regret any concern that this incident may cause you. We are contacting you to inform you of the incident and about steps you can take to protect your personal information, including enrolling in credit and identity monitoring services we are offering to you at no cost for one year.

What Happened? On February 21, 2018, we became aware of a data security incident involving the malicious encryption of certain Doyle files and folders on our network. In response, we immediately disabled the affected server and launched an internal investigation. We also retained a leading forensics firm to perform an independent investigation of the matter. The goals of the investigation were to determine what happened and whether any clients' personal information had been accessed without authorization. On April 20, 2018, the investigation first revealed that certain clients' personal information may have been accessed by unauthorized individuals.

What Information Was Involved? The unauthorized access may have involved certain clients' names, addresses, Social Security numbers and tax and wage information.

What Are We Doing? As soon as we discovered the incident, we took the steps discussed above. Additionally, we have taken steps to enhance the security of our network to make it more difficult for incidents like this to occur in the future. The Federal Bureau of Investigation and the Internal Revenue Service/Criminal Investigation unit (IRS/CI) were also notified in order to provide additional security for your identity and to prevent fraudulent activity.

To help address concerns and restore confidence following this incident, we are also providing you information about steps you can take to protect your personal information. We have secured the services of a credit and identity monitoring company, Kroll, to provide services at no cost to you for one year. STEPS YOU CAN TAKE TO FURTHER PROTECT YOUR INFORMATION

Review Your Account Statements and Notify Law Enforcement of Suspicious Activity: As a precautionary measure, we recommend that you remain vigilant by reviewing your account statements and credit reports closely. If you detect any suspicious activity on an account, you should promptly notify the financial institution or company with which the account is maintained. You also should promptly report any fraudulent activity or any suspected incidence of identity theft to proper law enforcement authorities, your state attorney general, and/or the Federal Trade Commission (FTC).

Copy of Credit Report: You may obtain a free copy of your credit report from each of the three major credit reporting agencies once every 12 months by visiting http://www.annualcreditreport.com/, calling toll-free 877-322-8228, or by completing an Annual Credit Report Request Form and mailing it to Annual Credit Report Request Service, P.O. Box 105281, Atlanta, GA 30348. You can print this form at https://www.annualcreditreport.com/cra/requestformfinal.pdf. You also can contact one of the following three national credit reporting agencies:

Fraud Alert: You may want to consider placing a fraud alert on your credit report. An initial fraud alert is free and will stay on your credit file for at least 90 days. The alert informs creditors of possible fraudulent activity within your report and requests that the creditor contact you prior to establishing any accounts in your name. To place a fraud alert on your credit report, contact any of the credit reporting agencies identified above. Additional information is available at http://www.annualcreditreport.com.

Security Freeze: In some U.S. states, you have the right to put a security freeze on your credit file. This will prevent new credit from being opened in your name without the use of a PIN number that is issued to you when you initiate the freeze. A security freeze is designed to prevent potential creditors from accessing your credit report without your consent. As a result, using a security freeze may interfere with or delay your ability to obtain credit. You must separately place a security freeze on your credit file with each credit reporting agency. If you request a security freeze from a consumer reporting agency there may be a fee up to $10 to place, lift or remove the security freeze. In order to place a security freeze, you may be required to provide the consumer reporting agency with information that identifies you including your full name, Social Security number, date of birth, current and previous addresses, a copy of your state-issued identification card, and a recent utility bill, bank statement or insurance statement.

Additional Free Resources: You can obtain information from the consumer reporting agencies, the FTC or from your respective state Attorney General about steps you can take toward preventing identity theft. You may report suspected identity theft to local law enforcement, including to the FTC at the address below or to the Attorney General in your state.

You also have certain rights under the Fair Credit Reporting Act (FCRA), including: to know what is in your file; to dispute incomplete or inaccurate information; and to have consumer reporting agencies correct or delete inaccurate, incomplete, or unverifiable information. For more information about the FCRA, please visit https://www.consumer.ftc.gov/articles/pdf-0096-fair-credit-reporting-act.pdf.
