Re: Important Notice About Your Personal Information

January [XX], 2020

Mr./Mrs. [],

The personal information that you have provided to AmeriSave Mortgage Corporation (“AmeriSave”) may have been disclosed as part of a recent security incident involving use of AmeriSave credentials on an AmeriSave’s business partner’s system. This notice informs you of what we are doing to protect your personal information and what you can do to protect your identity.

What Happened?

On December 12, 2019, one of AmeriSave’s business partners notified AmeriSave that, between October 2019 and November 2019, unauthorized third-parties may have used AmeriSave’s account credentials to access a business partner platform that maintained the personal information of AmeriSave’s customers. As a result, your personal information may have been inappropriately viewed or accessed by these third parties.

What Information Was Involved?

The information contained in the business partner’s platform included the personal information reflected in your loan application. That personal information may have included, but is not limited to, your name, address, Social Security number, date of birth, employment history, income information, mortgage loan information, information regarding assets and liabilities, and other consumer information; however, no passwords, security codes, access codes, or similar information were present in the potentially compromised data.

What We Are Doing

We take this issue seriously. AmeriSave and the business partner are undertaking a thorough review of this incident, and AmeriSave and the business partner have disabled the compromised account to minimize the possibility of further access to your personal information. Although we currently are unaware of any misuse of your personal information, we continue to be alert for signs of identity theft.

What You Can Do

This notice provides you with important information necessary to protect yourself against the risk of identity theft from this security incident.

Monitor Your Accounts: To protect your identity, remain vigilant by reviewing your financial account statements and monitoring your free credit reports for the next 12 to 24 months.

Free Credit Reports: In addition, you have the right to request that each of the three consumer reporting agencies listed below send you a free copy of your credit reports once every twelve months for your review. To order your free credit report, visit www.annualcreditreport.com, call toll-free at 1-877-322-8228, or complete the Annual Credit Report Request Form on the U.S. Federal Trade Commission's website at www.ftc.gov and mail it to Annual Credit Report Request Service, P.O. Box 105281, Atlanta, GA 30348-5281. Do not contact the three credit bureaus individually; they provide your free report only through the website or toll-free number

Even if you do not find any suspicious activity on your initial credit reports, the Federal Trade Commission recommends that you check your credit reports periodically. Thieves may wait to use stolen personal information at different times. Checking your credit reports periodically can help you spot problems and address them quickly. If you find accounts you did not open, inquiries from creditors that you did not initiate, or inaccurate personal information (such as your home address or Social Security number), please call the consumer reporting agency at the telephone number on the report.

Fraud Alerts: In addition to reviewing your credit report, you have the right to place a fraud alert on your credit file. A fraud alert requires creditors to contact you before they open any new accounts or change your existing accounts. To place a fraud alert on your credit file, please call any one of the three major credit bureaus listed below. As soon as one credit bureau confirms your fraud alert, the others are notified to place fraud alerts. The initial fraud alert stays on your credit report for 90 days. You can renew it after 90 days.

Security Freeze: You also may want to place a credit freeze on your credit file. A credit freeze means potential creditors cannot get your credit report. That makes it less likely that an identify thief can open new accounts in your name. Please be mindful that placing a security freeze on your credit report may delay, interfere with, or prevent the timely approval of any requests you make for new loans, credit mortgages, employment, housing, or other services.
