Notice of Data Breach

Dear <<first_name>> <<middle_name>> <<last_name>> <<suffix>>,

We are writing to notify you of a data security incident that may have exposed some of your personal information. We deeply regret that this incident occurred and are keenly aware of how important the security of your personal information is to you. W.L. Contractors takes the protection and proper use of your information very seriously. For this reason, we are contacting you directly to explain the circumstances of the incident.

What happened?

W.L. Contractors was the victim of a ransomware attack, which occurred between February 29, 2020, and March 3, 2020. It appears that malware had been installed on W.L. Contractors' computer network, but failed to complete the attack. Nevertheless, the malware was able to access and exfiltrate some Personal Information ("PI") of current and former employees of W.L. Contractors, as well as encrypt data.

What information was involved?

The PI potentially involved in this incident may have included your name, Social Security number, and direct deposit information for your bank account.

What we are doing.

Upon learning of the incident, W.L. Contractors' technology professionals took steps to terminate the attack and restore its computer network. W.L. Contractors also contacted law enforcement about this incident and engaged an outside cyber security firm to assist W.L. Contractors to help strengthen its defenses against similar attacks in the future. Furthermore, out of an abundance of caution, W.L. Contractors is providing notice of this incident to all current and former employees about whom it possessed PI on its computer network.

What you can do.

Please review the enclosed "Additional Resources" section included with this letter. This section describes additional steps you can take to help protect yourself, including recommendations by the Federal Trade Commission regarding identity theft protection and details on how to place a fraud alert or a security freeze on your credit file.

Fraud Alert. You may place a fraud alert in your file by calling one of the three nationwide credit reporting agencies above. A fraud alert tells creditors to follow certain procedures, including contacting you before they open any new accounts or change your existing accounts. For that reason, placing a fraud alert can protect you, but also may delay you when you seek to obtain credit.

A security freeze is intended to prevent credit, loans and services from being approved in your name without your consent. To place a security freeze on your credit report, you may be able to use an online process, an automated telephone line, or a written request to any of the three credit reporting agencies listed above. The following information must be included when requesting a security freeze (note that if you are requesting a credit report for your spouse, this information must be provided for him/her as well): (1) full name, with middle initial and any suffixes; (2) Social Security number; (3) date of birth; (4) current address and any previous addresses for the past five years; and (5) any applicable incident report or complaint with a law enforcement agency or the Registry of Motor Vehicles. The request must also include a copy of a government-issued identification card and a copy of a recent utility bill or bank or insurance statement. It is essential that each copy be legible, display your name and current mailing address, and the date of issue.
