Re: Notice of Data Breach

Dear <<Name 1>>:

Hughes Socol Piers Resnick & Dym, Ltd. ("HSPRD") writes to inform you of a recent incident that may affect the security of some of your information related to HSPRD's representation of you. While we are unaware of any actual or attempted misuse of your personal information, we are providing you with an overview of the incident, our response, and steps you may take to better protect yourself, should you feel it necessary to do so.

What Happened? On September 13, 2020, certain HSPRD systems became infected with a virus that prohibited access to certain files and systems. Upon discovery, HSPRD immediately commenced an investigation, which included working with third-party IT and forensic investigators, to determine the full nature and scope of the incident and to secure our network. Through this investigation, we determined that an unauthorized actor had placed malware within our environment that disrupted the operation of certain HSPRD systems. On or about September 28, 2020, HSPRD's investigation further determined that the unauthorized actor had gained access to certain HSPRD systems between August 28, 2020 and September 14, 2020. As a result, the unauthorized actor may have had access to certain files within these systems.

HSPRD performed an extensive investigation to determine what, if any, sensitive data was potentially involved. This investigation included working diligently to gather further information to understand the scope of the incident. For the past several months, HSPRD sent notices to the known impacted population. On May 18, 2021, HSPRD completed its data mining, and unfortunately, located additional individuals potentially affected by this incident. As such, you are receiving this letter.

What Information Was Involved? While the investigation was able to determine that these systems were accessed, HSPRD was unable to determine all of the sensitive information that was actually accessed or acquired by the unauthorized actor. Therefore, in an abundance of caution, HSPRD conducted a review of the affected systems and is notifying you of this incident because the following types of information related to you may have been present at the time of the incident: <<Data Elements>>. To date, HSPRD has not received any reports of actual or attempted misuse of your information.

What Are We Doing? The confidentiality, privacy, and security of information in our care is one of our highest priorities and we take this incident very seriously. When we discovered this incident, we immediately launched an investigation and took steps to secure our systems and determine what personal, confidential, and client data might be at risk. As part of our ongoing commitment to the security of information in our care, we are working to review our existing policies and procedures, to implement additional safeguards, and to provide additional training to our employees on data privacy and security. We will also be notifying state and federal regulators, as required.

As an added precaution, we are also offering you complimentary access to one year of credit monitoring and identity theft restoration services through TransUnion. We encourage you to activate these services, as we are not able to act on your behalf to activate them for you. Please review the instructions contained in the attached Steps You Can Take to Help Protect Your Information for additional information on these services.

What Can You Do? You may also activate the complimentary credit and identity monitoring services we are offering.

Monitor Your Accounts

Under U.S. law, a consumer is entitled to one free credit report annually from each of the three major credit reporting bureaus, Equifax, Experian, and TransUnion. To order your free credit report, visit www.annualcreditreport.com or call, toll-free, 1-877-322-8228. You may also directly contact the three major credit reporting bureaus listed below to request a free copy of your credit report.

Consumers have the right to place an initial or extended "fraud alert" on a credit file at no cost. An initial fraud alert is a 1-year alert that is placed on a consumer's credit file. Upon seeing a fraud alert display on a consumer's credit file, a business is required to take steps to verify the consumer's identity before extending new credit. If you are a victim of identity theft, you are entitled to an extended fraud alert, which is a fraud alert lasting seven years. Should you wish to place a fraud alert, please contact any one of the three major credit reporting bureaus listed below.

As an alternative to a fraud alert, consumers have the right to place a "credit freeze" on a credit report, which will prohibit a credit bureau from releasing information in the credit report without the consumer's express authorization. The credit freeze is designed to prevent credit, loans, and services from being approved in your name without your consent. However, you should be aware that using a credit freeze to take control over who gets access to the personal and financial information in your credit report may delay, interfere with, or prohibit the timely approval of any subsequent request or application you make regarding a new loan, credit, mortgage, or any other account involving the extension of credit. Pursuant to federal law, you cannot be charged to place or lift a credit freeze on your credit report. To request a security freeze, you will need to provide the following information:

1. Full name (including middle initial as well as Jr., Sr., II, III, etc.);
2. Social Security number;
3. Date of birth;
4. Addresses for the prior two to five years;
5. Proof of current address, such as a current utility bill or telephone bill;
6. A legible photocopy of a government-issued identification card (state driver's license or ID card, etc.); and
7. A copy of either the police report, investigative report, or complaint to a law enforcement agency concerning identity theft if you are a victim of identity theft.

Should you wish to place a fraud alert or credit freeze, please contact the three major credit reporting bureaus listed below:
